News Report Died From Wounds Pte. Edward Henry Evans, of the King's Liverpool Regiment, joined the colours in August of last year, and was drafted to France in December. He took part in the 'big push' of July 1st, and came out unscathed. Later he was transferred to another part of the line, and while in the trenches was seriously wounded by shrapnel in the elbow. From the base hospital in France he wrote s most cheery letter, in which he said that he been "ticketed for Blighty," but this was not to be. Though every attention was bestowed upon him, the wound took a bad turn; amputation had to be resorted to, but he passed away on November 2nd. His parents went over to see him, but arrived just after he had been interned, and had the only consolation of visiting the military cemetery, where he was laid to rest. The brave soldier who was a keen footballer and enthusiastic golfer, was the youngest son of Mr and Mrs R.E. Evans, of Penmaenmawr, and his brother, Mr C.P. Evans resides at "Hilary," Harrow Road, Wallasey. Two other sons are serving with the colours.
