News Report

Tank Lieutenant Killed

Brother Buried In The Trench

The sad intelligence of the death of 2nd Lieut. Frederick Alan Rankin, of the Border Regt., attached H.B., M.G.C., which took place in action on April 23, has been received by his mother, Mrs. Jane Francis Rankin, of 40, Danehurst Road, Wallasey, the widow of the late Mr. James Rankin, Liverpool.

2nd Lieut. Rankin, who received his education at Ashford House School, Birkenhead, and St. Bees School, Cumberland, joined the Liverpool Scottish in August of 1914, went to France in November, and was invalided home in March, receiving his gazette to the Border Regt. In September of last year. He again went to France in October with the Queen's Westminster Regt., receiving his transfer to the Tanks in January, and in this capacity he was killed during his second term of action at Arras.

Another brother, 2nd Lieut. F. Leslie Rankin, of the Liverpool Scottish, was seriously wounded, internally, in January of this year, being buried through the explosion of a trench mortar.
